

Employees Sales and Distribution and After Sales Management (f/m)

With 10 years of competence Papendorf Software Engineering GmbH is one of the most experienced IT service provider in the photovoltaic business. Our range is above and beyond the mere development of hard- and software: We are planning custom-tailored solutions in the sector of monitoring, metering and energy management.

In the strongly growing global market of mid- to large-sized PV installations IT systems are essential for the operational management of these facilities.

For our product segments monitoring and operational management we are looking for experienced employees in Sales, Distribution and After Sales Management to support the distribution of our SOL.Connect[®] hardware and software solutions.

You are already familiar with the PV sector? Then you are certainly aware of today's situation in communication technology and its pitfalls. The media are speaking highly of our products. But nonetheless these products require individual support during installation and usage. We are therefore not just talking about cold acquisition but also about customer management and assistance.

Could you imagine working in a small, dynamic and friendly team? Do you care for working independently, with flexibility and in a customer orientated manner?

Then please don't hesitate to contact us and send your application dossier to jobs@papendorf-se.de.

Kind regards,

Peter Papendorf
